Adams, Ellery	The Liars' Book Club	Mystery	10/27

In the latest installment of Ellery Adams' USA Today bestselling series, as clouds gather over the Great Smoky Mountains, an absent groom, a stolen historical document, and a book club coming apart at the seams stir up a different sort of storm in this engaging mystery. How far will one book lover go to keep a secret?

Anderson, Meg	The Memory of Borrowed Books	Magical Realism	10/6
---------------	------------------------------	-----------------	------

In the coastal town of Foxhollow Bay, librarian Claire Ashford keeps her life as meticulously ordered as the centuries-old library she calls home. But when the town announces plans to shut it down, her sanctuary, and the life she's built within its walls, begins to crumble. One night, while wandering the stacks after hours, Claire discovers a door that shouldn't exist. And behind it lies a secret room filled with books no one else can see. An ode to the power of community and hope, The Memory of Borrowed Books is a sweeping story about what's at stake when the places we love--and the memories they hold--are threatened. A reminder that what we fight to preserve just might be the very thing that saves us in return.

Andrews, Donna	Jay to the World	Mystery	10/13

The Christmas season is underway in Caerphilly. The members of the Hollingsworth clan, Meg's mother's family, are beginning to arrive in force, and Mother has several special projects underway this year. But all is not going smoothly in Caerphilly. Someone vandalizes the playhouse and sets a dangerous trap that injures and could have killed Mother. She reveals that she has been getting nasty anonymous letters, and it's obvious that someone is targeting her. Meg realizes she has to do something to figure out who could possibly have it in for her mom.

Anning, Benedict	Atomic Coffin	Horror	10/6

The Hunt for Red October meets The Thing when a British spy in East Germany, codename Thistle, uncovers a hidden USSR underwater base with a terrifying secret, blending deep-sea dread and psychological horror in a high-stakes thriller.

Armstrong, Kelley	Dive Bar at the End of the Road	Horror/Thriller	10/6

A forested road at night, slick from the pounding rain and eerily illuminated by flashes of lightning. Just before midnight, a car swerves to avoid something--or someone--mysteriously standing in the road, only to slam into a fallen tree instead. In the pitch black, four more cars follow in a pileup no one can seem to avoid. Stumbling out of the wreckage, soaked from the rain and nursing various injuries, five strangers find themselves in a backwoods dive bar, waiting for daybreak and hoping for cell service. But as tensions rise and the storm rages on outside, the occupants of the dive bar start to notice that not everything is as it seems.

Bailey, Tessa	Broken Rival	Romance	10/6

Magnolia Brown loves Friday night football games, volunteering and dominating at high school swim meets. Just your average everyday eighteen-year-old. Except for one thing: she's from fifty years in the future. When Magnolia's parents are seized and executed for illegally traveling to the past, they leave Magnolia stranded in 2026 without a way to get home. Now Magnolia has nowhere to turn but a complicated Kansas family with two sons--Fallon, her high school sweetheart with secrets of his own, and Ramsey, the brooding militia commander who hunts and kills criminals like her. Which brother can she trust and is the real danger coming from inside the house?

Balogh, Mary	A Waltz to Remember	Historical/Romance	10/27
--------------	---------------------	--------------------	-------

The youngest Ware daughter, Stephanie, has always harbored secret passion for the best friend of her brother. When he surprised her by asking her to save a waltz for him, she panicked--and refused him in the unkindest words. Stephanie's guilt over her behavior is such that she now dreads seeing him, as she inevitably must, at the Christmas family reunion she is attending. She wants to hide from him, but what she doesn't know is that Bertrand has always admired her from afar and is determined to overcome her apparent dislike of him and win his waltz.

Beaton, M. C.	Dead Before Tea Time	Mystery	10/13
Green, R. W.

Agatha Raisin's Cotswolds village is in an uproar when word spreads that their beloved Red Lion pub is set to close. As the villagers scramble to change the brewery's mind, Agatha and her team at Raisin Investigations begin looking into more direct ways to save the pub. Meanwhile, Sir Charles Fraith attempts to wheedle his way back into Agatha's affection, crossing swords with James--Agatha's other paramour--who is determined to thwart his efforts. Amidst the chaos of the battle, a body is discovered in a copse of trees just off the battleground. While many brush off the death as an accident, Agatha digs deeper after discovering the dead man had connections to the same brewery putting the Red Lion out of business.

Birrell, Rebecca	Venus, Vanishing	Historical/LGBTQ+	10/27

In raucous 1928 Berlin, Hannah Sherman has deviated from the traditional arc of a woman's life. An artist and a runaway, she revels in the city's underground art scene. Working as a tailor while studying art in every spare moment, Hannah comes to know women and their bodies, first with measuring tape and silk, and later through sensuous layers of paint. Hannah feels like she can finally call herself an artist when a wealthy female collector commissions an elaborate series of nude portraits. But after Hannah finishes the acclaimed Venus paintings, she discovers that her work has been tampered with and exhibited under a man's name. When lines between artist and muse are crossed in a heady but perilous affair, Hannah transforms her work into an act of revenge, finding herself caught up in a devastating game of betrayal.

Middle Sister is haunted by everyone in her community who has disappeared--as well as those who remain. But most of all, there are the thousands of unacknowledged missing and murdered Indigenous women, including Older Sister, whose year-long absence from the reservation has torn her remaining family apart. With local authorities proving useless, Middle Sister decides to start an investigation of her own, beginning with the mysterious "Eric"--a white man from a neighboring town who Older Sister claimed to love. Middle Sister is forced to seek help from the community from which she's grown alienated, starting with her coworker, Casanova; a stray rez dog; and Nookomis, her grandmother who's foreseen her own death. In the end, she must choose: either let the guilt consume her or forgive herself and fight.

Boleyn, Briar	With Hearts of Flame	Romance/Fantasy	10/20
----------------------	-----------------------------	------------------------	--------------

They say love makes you foolish. At Bloodwing, it makes you dangerous. I thought surviving a vampire academy was the hardest thing I'd ever have to do. Then I fell in love with a boy who can turn into a dragon. After the attack on Veilmar, I should help to keep the school running. But instead, I've been pulled into a secret dwarven quest to recover something the other side can never be allowed to claim. Back at Bloodwing, our friends are caught between the demands of the highblood elite and the fragile revolution blooming in the halls. At the Bonewood, love has become both a weapon and a weakness. My friends and I must choose once and for all what we're willing to sacrifice for a better world.

Chambers, Becky	As You Wake, Break the Shell	Sci-Fi	10/13

Life on the resource-poor planet of Fortune is challenging, but for its inhabitants, it's home. For two of them, Signy and Cora, this home might no longer be enough. Signy is a brilliant but reclusive botanist who bio-prints medicine from her small plant shop, often bending the rules to help those the system leaves behind. Cora is a rorqual pilot. Her bond with her rorqual, Colibri, is profound--a connection that is both her greatest gift and a threat to her career. It is that threat--the "mindbleed," a dangerous side effect of her piloting--that brings her to Signy's shop. Through a love story centered around survival, we are given a glimpse into the very best of what Becky Chambers does in her writing: explore what it means to be human, and what it means to come together.

Connor, Quinn	Your Beloved Remains	Horror/Psychological	10/6

Archivist Celia Kiel has spent her life on the remote campus of Basin College in the Southern Ozarks. Celia guards the legacy of this venerated, yet scandalous author, who has been the object of her illicit desire since childhood. When the administration announces the college's imminent closure, Celia discovers a manuscript pickled in formaldehyde, and with it, a chance to save the only home she's ever known. To do it, she is forced to recruit her professional rival, literature postdoc Joan Harriot, who has both an astounding talent for mimicry and a dark secret of her own.

Luke Cage is hired to investigate a factory manufacturing medical devices in rural Virginia. He makes plans to travel south but is devastated to learn that a cousin who scoped out the plant for him has been found dead. The police report states it was an accident. But Luke has long known that official words are just that: words. Fueled by guilt and vengeance, Luke arrives in Virginia and promises his aunt he'll get to the bottom of things. As Luke uncovers a conspiracy reaching to the county line and beyond, an persistent evil begins to take hold of the town, leaving Luke to hope that his unbreakable skin will protect him long enough to protect others and bring an end to the hate threatening to engulf the nation.

Cosimano, Elle	Home for the Homicides	Cozy Mystery	10/13
Morrissey, Hannah

Welcome to Christmas, a town so cozy it could be the backdrop of a Hallmark movie, where crime is never in season. So when a tourist is found stabbed to death by an icicle ornament in the middle of the town nativity scene, the local police are out of their depth--after all, how do you find a criminal in a town where crime doesn't exist? Holly and Mark are both on thin ice after screwing up on the job. This assignment is their one shot at redemption, if they can put aside their bitter rivalry. But with just twelve days until the festival, the countdown to catch a killer--without killing each other--is on.

Dimitri, Francesco	Pan	Dark Fantasy	10/13

A brutal modern Italian retelling of the story of Peter Pan, now in English for the first time. Across the sprawling metropolis of Rome, children dream of an island that doesn't exist. An old god returns. Anarchy, destruction, and extreme emotions nourish it. A new god has emerged. Order and subjugation are its intentions. They fought once before. This time it will be to the death. Magic is returning to the world and in the skies above the city, children clash with pirates while deities old and new fight for dominance of Rome. Below, the population moves on, oblivious, while the city watches and steels herself for the bloodshed to come. And the people will learn Pan is coming, and it's coming for them.

Emerald, A. T.	Under the Iron Sky	Fantasy	10/13
-----------------------	---------------------------	----------------	--------------

Vordell was beautiful once. Its people lived in harmony, and their civilization flourished. Then the darkness came. The Iron Sky unfolded dark clouds across the land. The Dar'rak--an enemy long believed to be buried and forgotten--returned to claim the world above. Soraya Tollmere has spent most of her life on the front lines of the brutal war that followed. Now a high-ranking commander, she knows loss better than anyone. By night, she meets with a Dar'rak defector who has kept humanity alive with his steady stream of secrets. On a mission to investigate his latest lead, Soraya is captured by the Demon, the Dar'rak's most feared soldier. Devastating truths surface and loyalties shatter, forcing Soraya to decide who to trust in a world where Light is dying--and where her greatest enemy may be her only salvation.

Frost, Jacqueline	Deck the Halls with Boughs of Murder	Cozy Mystery	10/6

New parents Holly White and Sheriff Evan Gray are sleep deprived but incandescently happy to be celebrating their baby's first Christmas. Their family, friends, and neighbors are spoiling the newest addition. But their cup full of cheer turns sour when Holly discovers a dead body. Earlier in the day, Holly witnessed a fight between Greysen and a stranger. Stranger still, the reindeer petting zoo had originally been empty that day--no reindeer in sight until they reappeared along with a corpse. As Holly fights to keep the Christmas spirit alive, she is Greysen's only chance at justice--and her baby's only chance at a happy first Christmas.

Goldberg, Lee	Split Screen	Mystery	10/20

When Erin Casey, the actress who plays LASD detective Eve Ronin on TV, is gunned down after a ride-along, the intended target is obvious: the real Eve. What isn't obvious is why. As Eve hunts the shooter, her world fractures into more deadly reflections. To save Erin, protect her half sister, and survive herself, Eve must find the killers before they strike again--and before her enemies inside the department finish the job for them.

Grainger, Jean	Lady Reid's Legacy	Family Life	9/8

In 1846, a young bride arrives at Dunmara as the Great Famine tightens its grip on Ireland. Evelyne Reid quickly learns that her marriage is nothing more than a debt repaid, and that her husband, Lord Reid, is as cold and merciless as the hunger stalking his tenants. Powerless by law, Evelyne must choose between obedience and her conscience. But Evelyne makes a decision in 1846 that will echo across two centuries. Over 150 years later Dunmara Estate is in grave peril. On Ireland's wild West Coast, a ruthless developer has this ancient place in his sights, and those fighting to save it are losing ground with every passing day. The answer to Dunmara's survival is hiding in plain sight. But first, someone has to see it.

Harbach, Chad	The Brightness	Literary Fiction	10/27
----------------------	-----------------------	-------------------------	--------------

The Brightness follows the electric, chaotic, everything-can-happen lives of Pella and her best friend, Irma, as they fumble their way out of sleepy, Midwestern Westish College and into a larger world that will upend their connection and everything they thought they understood about their own place within it. As Irma and Pella cycle through possibilities and identities, both navigate the heights and depths of passion and ambition, and the incalculable wages of love and loss.

Harrison, M. John	The End of Everything	Psychological	10/13
--------------------------	------------------------------	----------------------	--------------

Phillip Tennent makes his living at the tideline, collecting artifacts that wash up from the Channel. It's been years since the crisis changed everything, but its exact nature remains obscure. Government barely functions, the seas are full of new creatures, an entire continent has been mislaid. It feels like the end. Now Phillip has fished out of the water an object he can't keep. A creature that keeps changing. An artifact he must take inland, before it destroys everything he thinks he knows. The End of Everything is a slyly satirical and unsettling post-apocalyptic adventure into the limits of human understanding, from the peerless master of contemporary fiction.

Jimenez, Abby	A Married Little Christmas	Romance/Holiday	10/20

Tis the season to fall in love! Anna thought only the food would be a disaster at her Christmas dinner--until her high school ex shows up. For Matty, the idea of sitting in a diner all day dressed as a zombie Santa after losing a bet has zero appeal. But his cute and funny server might just make him change his mind. And finally, will Lauren be able to convince her best friend that getting married after a three-day relationship is absolutely ridiculous? Or will the town called Little Christmas pull her in with its happily-ever-after magic once she meets the best man? Collection of three feel-good novellas.

Jung, Katie	You're the One That I Haunt	Romantic Comedy	9/22
-------------	-----------------------------	-----------------	------

Libby Lakoski has two major problems. First, she's secretly in love with her best friend, Carter Coldwell, and second, he's marrying someone else. Not to mention, Libby is the only person Carter trusted enough to tell about the dark magic that plagues his family. But then a third and related problem presents itself--or, himself. Trip Coldwell is Carter's handsome, smart, flirtatious cousin who also happens to be... a ghost. Trip's "unfinished business" is to break the Coldwell curse, but the solution hinges on Libby encouraging Carter to allow his wedding to proceed. Unfortunately, Libby is the only person who can see Trip, and her objective is the exact opposite. Can Libby put aside her pining for Carter and work with his hot and not-quite-living cousin to save both men?

Jones, Stephen Graham	Off the Reservation	Horror/Thriller	10/13
-----------------------	---------------------	-----------------	-------

Five years have passed since the massacre on the Blackfeet reservation. Nathan Yellow Tail, one of the survivors of the revenge murders, finds himself in the hospital after a terrible accident that should've killed him and that nearly killed his best friend, Sebby. Nate's life is out of balance, so when he is given the chance to reset his life, and maybe save Sebby in the process, Nate steps up, again. This time it's into a camper van that is almost as run down as his broken body, filled with three older Blackfeet, to find the bones of the lone Blackfeet boy who died at the Carlisle Indian Industrial School--where many Indigenous children were abused--and repatriate this boy home. The problem is, when they get the bones, something terrible has escaped with them.

Khaw, Cassandra	Find Me Where It Ends	Horror/Fantasy	10/6

Antigone is no stranger to death. For the women of her family, death always comes in the form of a black dog. When Antigone's own black dog arrives, she isn't afraid. She invites it inside, where it soon becomes a daily source of companionship and comfort. It also forces her to reflect on the life she's led--the parts of herself she's hollowed out for the sake of others, and the bone-deep exhaustion that's hounded her every step. Her Death's arrival must be a sign, permission to finally let go. To rest. Because while mortality is inevitable, living is a choice. But a good death comes at a price.

Kleypas, Lisa	Queen of Lombard Street	Historical/Mystery	10/20

From New York Times bestselling author Lisa Kleypas--a sweeping, richly layered Victorian novel about a trailblazing female economist who's determined to build Britain's first women's bank, but she must fight both financial corruption and a system intent on destroying the newly found family she's created.

Lefens, Sophie	Her Kind	Literary/Gothic	10/13
----------------	----------	-----------------	-------

When Ada is left to raise her young son alone, she retreats to her otherworldly aunt Leigh's crumbling lakeside home. Yet, among the wildflowers and the hum of the water, Ada can't escape the nagging feeling she might not have much time left. Sensing death grow nearer, she invites her three closest friends--a brash, unemployed seamstress; a gentle, disillusioned violinist; and a serious painter--to the house over a long weekend to determine which of them might take on the impossible: raising Lenny if she no longer can. Written in attentive, insightful prose, Her Kind is an ode to the power of love to return us to ourselves.

Macomber, Debbie	A Date with Santa	Romance/Holiday	10/13
------------------	-------------------	-----------------	-------

For single career woman Sage Madison, Christmas means premade cookies and artificial trees. But when her sister needs her help, Sage volunteers to care for her five-year-old nephew, Ricky. Determined to give Ricky a memorable Christmas, Sage enlists help from her assistant and close friend, Erica, who loves kids, and her colleague Ethan, who agrees to dress up as Santa--if Sage and Ricky join him in holiday fun to get in the spirit. As Sage navigates the challenges of caring for her nephew and the prospect of romance with Ethan, she begins to discover the true magic of the season. But when her old life threatens to interfere with the festivities, Sage must decide what she truly wants before the season's magic slips away.

Marlowe, Mallory	Entities to Lovers	Romantic Comedy	10/13

Paranormal medium Rory Woods spends her days offering psychic readings at Ye Olde Spirit Shop and nights haunting the streets of Boston as a ghost-tour guide. Enter Ezra Blackwell: adjunct history professor, noted thorn in Rory's side, and--though she'd only admit it under threat of medieval torture he surely knows too much about--a distractingly handsome, charismatic coworker. Rory can't stand Ezra's know-it-all, show-offy behavior. Ezra loves to tease the gorgeous, brilliant medium at the shop. And when the two are forced to host a tour together? It's no wonder they end up hexed after disturbing a matchmaking ghost.

Orringer, Julie	Luna, Phoenix, Queen	Family Life	10/13

In a narrative that spans four decades and four thousand miles, Luna, Phoenix, Queen illuminates the power of storytelling and explores the terror of losing the ability to make sense of our world. It is a cry of rage against our vulnerability and helplessness; an acknowledgment of the mysteries beneath the familiar surface of our world; and ultimately, if unexpectedly, a radical testament to love in its many forms.

Picoult, Jodi	Hollow Bones	Literary Fiction	9/15

On September 11, 2001, when Molly Fitzgerald was only two months old, her mother went to an appointment at the World Trade Center and never came home. Her father and the stepmother who raised her couldn't have loved her more, but she still grew up with a healthy dread of disasters. Now an adult, she runs the Rhode Island Department for Emergency Preparedness, mapping out ways to save lives during storms, epidemics, and airplane crashes. She and her husband, Jesse--a police polygraph expert with his own history of crisis--have found a love that is a solace in a dangerous world. But then the unexpected upends their new marriage, leading them both to question everything they thought they knew.

Robb, Kate	Solar Eclipse of the Heart	Romance	10/6

Annalise Harris lives by facts and figures. Raised by her uncle after her mother's death, she's always relied on logic to avoid the unexpected. So when her uncle passes away, Annalise is left reeling. Luckily, she has an escape plan: a PhD program abroad to leave her grief behind. Unluckily, Mackenzie Smith, her new roommate, is not the woman she was expecting but a leather jacket-wearing, wannabe rock star, extremely attractive man. At least they'll only be sharing space for a few months. There's no rational reason a leather jacket should unlock visions--or for Annalise to fall in love just as she's preparing to leave. But for the first time since losing her uncle, she feels something she thought was gone for good: happiness.

At twenty-eight, Woo Hyo-young has mastered the art of silence--especially when it comes to her sister, Hyo-min. After years of shouldering the burden left behind by Hyo-min's betrayal, and sacrificing her own dream of becoming a film director, Hyo-young is worn thin. When letters of apology from her estranged sister begin to arrive, Hyo-young does the only thing she can: she runs. Landing in Seoul with nowhere to go, Hyo-young accepts a quiet position at Geulwol, a tucked-away letter shop run by her former classmate, Seon-ho. Then she meets Yeonggwang, a warm yet guarded webtoon artist and regular customer at the shop. Through their growing bond, Hyo-young begins to confront her own past.

Stephenson, Neal	D: Heavy Water	Thriller/Historical	10/13

Europe, 1934. British journalist Owen Crisp-Upjohn is dispatched to Moscow, where his assignments quickly escalate from cultural reporting to espionage. Owen finds himself pulled into the orbit of the Earl of Suffolk, a maverick aristocrat, and Aurora, a compelling woman with a shadowy past rooted in Soviet intelligence. Their mission soon becomes clear: secure the earth's only supply of deuterium--"heavy water"--before it falls into Nazi hands. The high-stakes pursuit takes them from London's plush drawing rooms to Barcelona, ravaged by the Spanish Civil War. Over time, Owen evolves from a detached observer into a man forced to confront profound questions of honor, love, and moral responsibility.

Thayne, Raeanne	Cozy Little Christmas	Romance/Holiday	10/6

When her dear friend Morgan desperately needs her help, Hannah temporarily steps in to care for Morgan's children. That's what friends do--especially at the holidays. But she never expected to run into Wes Kenner. Moving back home is the last thing K9 law enforcement officer Wes Kenner ever wanted. It's where he fell in love with Hannah--and where an accident changed his mother's life forever. But when his grandfather needs a helping hand, he can't say no. Still, seeing Hannah again fills him with regret--and hope. As Hannah brings much-needed holiday magic to Morgan--and her kids--he realizes this is his chance. Because this Christmas, all he wants is her.

Woo, Ashley	Wildwood	Family Life/Supernatural	9/8

It seems like divine intervention when newly pregnant and freshly unemployed Elinor unexpectedly inherits Wildwood, her family's estate. She convinces her husband to move to the sprawling wilderness of rural Vermont to make a home and raise their baby. Knowing little of the house or its past, save for snapshots of childhood memories, she becomes entranced by an eerie nineteenth-century mural in the primary bedroom she calls "the Forest of the Dead." But instead of growing more settled in her new home, Elinor feels increasingly isolated and uneasy. She begins to have dreams that feel like memories, phantasmagorical visions of something terrible that happened long ago. Haunted by the mystery of why her family fell apart, she's determined to uncover the secrets of her ancestry buried deep in the past and even deeper in the woods . . . secrets kept by powerful forces within the house and within the town.

Young, W. M. Paul	Return to the Shack	Christian/Fantasy	10/6
-------------------	---------------------	-------------------	------

In Return to the Shack, William Paul Young invites readers on a profound journey into the depths of grief, the complexity of trauma, and the surprising humanity of those we most fear. With honesty and compassion, he explores the devastating impact of mental illness, abuse, and violence, the strain of loss on relationships, and the staggering cost--and unexpected freedom--of forgiveness. This long-awaited sequel dares to ask the hardest questions: What does it mean to forgive the unforgivable? How do we live with God's silence when our wounds cry out for answers? And can even the darkest prison and the most desolate wreckage of broken dreams become places where grace and redemption take root?
